

Considering the prevalence of fake journals and publication bias among academics and difficulty in distinguishing fake journals from genuine ones, students and faculty members of the university need a guide to help them determine the authenticity of the journal to submit their articles. Therefore, we decided to set up a consulting department for the validation of journals. The applicants can send us the specifications of the desired journals. Guidelines and answers will be delivered as soon as possible.

If you need any consultation, you can send your queries to the following email address or call the following phone numbers:
