

:SciVal

First introduced in 2009, SciVal provides advanced and in-depth citation analysis based on Scopus database. The SciVal citation database is not a citation index, but a research analysis citation database that, like InSights, allows the results to be compared with global averages and standards. In this way, using SciVal, the research performance of a researcher, organization, country, region, journal, research group and the like can be evaluated (<https://www.scival.com/customer/authenticate/loginfull>)
